Expression Of Interest For Selection of Technology supplier for direct recovery of pure Copper, pure Nickel, Selenium, Tellurium & Sulphuric acid from Refinery spent electrolyte.

1.1 Introduction:

Hindustan Copper Limited (HCL), a Mini Ratna Public Sector Enterprise under the administrative control of the Ministry of Mines, was incorporated on 9th November 1967. It has the distinction of being the nation's only vertically integrated copper producing company as it manufactures copper right from the stage of mining to beneficiation, smelting, refining and casting of refined copper metal into downstream saleable products. HCL has the distinction of owning all copper mining leases in the country.

The company has its corporate and registered office in Kolkata. HCL has four operating units viz. Khetri Copper Complex(KCC) (Rajasthan), Malanjkhand Copper Project(MCP) (Madhya Pradesh), Indian Copper Complex(ICC), Ghatsila (Jharkhand) and Taloja Copper Project(TCP) (Maharashtra). While Khetri and Ghatsila are fully integrated units (mining, ore beneficiation, smelting and refining), Malanjkhand has mining and ore beneficiation and Taloja has wire rod manufacturing facility only. The marketing/sales setup is headquartered at Kolkata with four regional sales offices in Delhi, Mumbai, Kolkata & Bangalore and sales godowns spread across the country.

The company manufactures and markets copper cathodes, copper continuous cast copper wire rod and by-products such as anode slime (containing gold, silver & selenium), copper sulphate and sulphuric acid.

HCL has embarked on an ambitious expansion plan whereby the mining capacity is likely to go up four fold in the coming years.

Further details about the company and its operations can be obtained from its website www.hindustancopper.com.

1.2 Objective of EoI

Presently, ICC Smelter & Refinery plant of HCL at Ghatsila, Jharkhand is in operation and the capacity of the plant is 18500 MT/ annum. The plant uses concentrate from nearby Surda mine(part of Singbhum copper belt(SCB)) as well as from the Malanjkhand mine. The concentrate from Surda mines contains around 4500 ppm Ni and as a result appreciable amounts of Ni are present in the electrolyte of Refinery.

The current practice of Refinery includes recovery of copper from spent electrolyte as copper sulphate crystal and as liberator cathodes. Nickel is also recovered partly as nickel hydroxide. HCL is interested in replacing the present arrangement by a more efficient technology. The technology should enable recovery of the following from the Refinery electrolyte:

- i) Copper and nickel from spent electrolyte as purer metals.

- ii) Sulphuric acid from the spent electrolyte for reusing in Refinery in order to reduce the effluent treatment cost and process cost.
- iii) The remnant Selenium and tellurium from the electrolyte.

HCL recognizes the fact that a single company may not provide the best solution for all the issues of HCL and also the best technology supplier for any particular issue may not even be in a position to indicate any solution for other issues.

Accordingly all interested original technology supplier for the above mentioned fields may take part in the EOI.

1.3 Scope of Technology supplier:

- I. To provide a techno-economically feasible process for recovery of metals specifically from the electrolyte of Refinery Plant.
- II. Implementation of technology on EPC basis.

2.0 Instruction to the Respondents

2.1 Selection Criteria:

The intending Respondents shall fulfill the following criteria:

- i. The technology should be proven and have been adopted anywhere in the world.
- ii. A proof of successful operation of the technology may be enclosed.

3.0: General Instruction
